Jobs involve travel throughout London

CITE is currently expanding its team to work on an exciting new pan-London project. The team will work in the community to help people who are not employed to increase their employment prospects. If you are motivated to help people transform their lives through skills development which leads to sustainable employment, then you might be the ideal candidate to join this small friendly team.

You will have an understanding of the UK labour market and the ability to train and work on an individual basis with unemployed people in order to maximise their chances of gaining work. You will have the ability to develop and maintain good relationships with a range of different people: learners, partners and employers. You will have an analytical and highly organised approach and the flexibility to work across a number of tasks simultaneously.

If you have the necessary skills and experience and want to be involved in transforming people's lives then in the first instance please email your CV to declan@cite4jobs.org. For more information on CITE please look at our website: www.cite4jobs.org
